

InterCity Leadership Visit

Sept. 20-22, 2017

CINCINNATI^{OHIO}

PURPOSE: To expose Greater Waco leaders to innovative community and economic development ideas, programs, initiatives and best practices, which may be adapted and implemented in the Greater Waco area and to engage in high level networking among community leaders.

What's new in Cincinnati? These days, it's more like what's NOT new! Cincinnati USA is in the midst of an exciting renaissance. There is a convergence of new developments, projects and convention wins taking shape that collectively makes this one of the most progressive, game-changing eras in the region's history.

Cincinnati experienced a similar boom starting in 2003 when the Reds and Bengals Stadiums, National Underground Railroad Freedom Center, Duke Energy Center and Freedom Square emerged. But this latest surge of activity is more exciting. We will see and learn about these new innovative projects that are changing the Cincinnati landscape.
